

Researcher Profile:

ARIANNA

LOMONICO

SOPHMORE, PSYCHOLOGY, MINOR IN COMMUNICATION STUDIES

WHAT HAS BEEN YOUR PROUDEST ACCOMPLISHMENT IN RESEARCH?

My proudest accomplishment in research was configuring data for the Justice Arts Coalition website. There were 600+ data sources that I had to go through and I was really proud that I was able to be successful with the workload.

HOW HAS RESEARCH CONTRIBUTED TO YOUR UNDERGRAD EXPERIENCE?

Participating in OUR helped me gain more hands-on experience in my field that will benefit my undergraduate experience moving forward. I have learned not to be hard on myself because the research process can be overwhelming but it takes a lot of patience.

ADVICE FOR SOMEONE WHO WANTS TO PURSUE RESEARCH WITH OUR?

Don't be afraid to do programs like OUR alone. Out of all my friends, I was the only one interested in doing research and it can be a little overwhelming doing things outside your comfort zone and doing it alone, but I'm glad I had the opportunity. I wanted to make myself more of a better candidate for graduate school and that is what I'm doing!

“STRIKE THE MOMENT”